Visit to The Classics Museum UCD.

Tuesday, October 22nd, 2024. Meet at The Arts Block at 11 am

The Tour will be lead by Mr. Peter Pearson, Historian, Conservationist ,Noted Artist

The Classics museum in UCD is a small but fascinating collection of artefacts and sculptures, mainly from ancient Greece and Rome. It is largely unknown except to UCD students of classics and perhaps art history. It is hidden away on an upper floor of the Arts building and many people would be surprised that such a collection might exist in Ireland. To enter the large room where all the collection is displayed is at once a surprise and a great pleasure- for here are ancient marble steles or tomb markers, decorated urns and pottery, oil lamps and other utensils. Many of the larger exhibits came from the now derelict Shanganagh castle in South County Dublin and were bought by UCD in the 1940s at auction. It is a fascinating museum.
